

Patricia Juba

Certified disc consultant, trainer, coach

Patricia is a certified disc consultant that is passionate about adding value for your growth personally and professionally. Patricia understands that once you realize your own communication style you will be better equipped to engage with the other styles and build better impactful teams.

Patricia also has over 22 years of experience in the property management field and holds a CPM designation.